Subject: question on impacted communities

Hi Suzanne – a representative from the Missouri Coalition for the Environment called regarding the West Lake Landfill site. He wanted to know how a region determines what communities are considered to be impacted by a site. Lois, Freya and I looked at the handbook and toolkit. It seems as if it should be an iterative process. As issues evolve and communities become aware they are added to the outreach process. Is there any other guidance?

He stated that R7 told him that the determination on what communities were impacted by WLL was already made and the issue was closed.

It is not clear to me who in the community the Coalition represents.
